6 Reasons to Hire a Contractor Instead of Doing It Yourself

1. Your time is valuable.

No matter how long you think it will take to complete, DIY projects almost always take longer than expected, usually resulting in unwanted delays. An experienced contractor has the skills and knowledge to get the job done quickly and on a schedule. Contractors can also deal with unavoidable delays by adding additional resources to meet a timeline.

2. Permit management & Insurance

Many home projects will require a permit from your local government. A contractor knows the process of getting permits and should be the one to pull the permit. Should issue arise, this will allow the homeowner access to the Home Improvement Contractor Guarantee Fund. A contractor's insurance policy adds a layer of extra protection above what your home insurance includes.

3. Supplies, Materials, Brands (and discounts)

A contractor can offer expert insight on the options available to you, as well as the brands in the market. Oftentimes, a contractor has vendor partnerships that come with discounts and they can pass along some of these savings to you.

4. The right tools for the job

A contractor has the tools and equipment necessary for the job, whereas DIY homeowners often don't. Buying, borrowing, or renting all of the tools and equipment you'll need can be costly and time consuming.

5. Delivery Schedules

Whether it's picking up the materials needed or being available when they're dropped off at your home, part of a contractor's job is to ensure supplies and materials are delivered in a timely fashion to keep the project moving forward.

6. A wealth of trade connections

Home renovations and projects usually require the expertise of tradespeople. Whether the job needs the skills of a carpenter, electrician, plumber, or someone licensed to disconnect or connect natural gas appliances, a contractor will have a list of contacts to turn to for help.
